

Subculture Stereo

"Train Station"

Visit "Train Station" on MotoLyrics.com

All alone on a Saturday night
Drunk and broke under the city lights
My friends have come my friends have gone
And now I'm growing old
The plastic smiles of the passerbys
A look of discontent in their eyes
The atmosphere is running dry
The Vibe is feeling cold

Feeling cold

Left behind in the city tonight
there's nothing left in this place
I gotta get up and go
Left behind in the city tonight
But its never too late
To catch a train to the show
Left behind in the city tonight
Still have yet to find a place
That I can call my home
Left behind in the city tonight
I can hear the distant sound
From the streets below

Left behind in the city tonight
Everything's changed over the passing time
This ambition of dreams
Has left me wanting more
Train of satisfaction rolling by Nothing to lose gonna hitch a ride
Cause satisfaction
Is the only thing I'm living for

Living for

Left behind in the city tonight
there's nothing left in this place
I gotta get up and go
Left behind in the city tonight
But its never too late
To catch a train to the show
Left behind in the city tonight

Still have yet to find a place
That I can call my home
Left behind in the city tonight
I can hear the distant sound
From the streets below

I can hear the sound from the streets below
Come on and follow me we'll make it to the show
Come on come on Lets Go

I wanna go to the train station
I wanna go to the train station
I wanna go to the train station
I wanna go to the train station
(I wanna go to the train station)
I wanna go I wanna go
(I wanna go to the train station)
I wanna go I wanna go
(I wanna go to the train station)
I wanna go I wanna go go go go
(I wanna go to the train station)
I wanna go I wanna go
(I wanna go to the train station)
I wanna go I wanna go
(I wanna go to the train station)
I wanna go I wanna go go go go

Visit Subculture Stereo page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.