"Standing As One"

We've Proven that our reason to be is stronger than the winds of change but in the end one question remains would we dare to walk on that way?

As long as you're living
theres no turning back.
Ohhhh

Were standing strong, when all hope is gone
we go together standing as one
The time has come we aim for the sun
we reach the distance all for one.

It seems like dreams are built on stone but things never stay the same though if the hands of time should put us down We'll be standing together as one.

As long as you're living
no need to dream instead.

Were standing strong, when all hope is gone
we go together standing as one
The time has come we aim for the sun
we reach the distance all for one.
