Is this part emotion?
We've been on a long ride
Standin' in a cloud of smoke
It was more than just passin' time

I once had a vision
An old time love story
I long to whisper in your ear
Watch the light in your eyes
The light in your eyes

I hear another faint cry
Behind all your boldness
All my friends, they know I've tried
But you can only do your best

I once had a vision
An old time love story
I long to whisper in your ear
And watch the light in your eyes
The light in your eyes

Each and every night
You move so freely
You stay so young at heart
You must have had a head start on me, on me
Oh yeah

To know the beauty of the wind and to
To have her as such a friend
To love and learn so from her
Like a picture of the places we've been in

I once had a vision
An old time love story
I long to whisper in your ear
Watch the light in your eyes
The light in your eyes
The light in your eyes
The light in your eyes

You know you might have had a head start on me

But I'm going to catch up to you
You know you always stay so young at heart
That's why I'm trying to catch up to you
