"I'm never going to cry again"
It was the first lie that she told me
But what could i say except
"I wish you never had to in the first place"?
And even though you feel small and scared
I hope you know I need you more than air
She fights a losing battle that I can't even bear to watch
And I'd tear out my eyes (but) my hands are tied
I cannot save her
She wonders what she has to do
To make all her trying worth somethign to All those frowning "strangers" that somehow know her name
And all those silent partners who'd never take the blame
But I guess one finger is easier than five to say goodbye
Cuz she fights a losing battle that I can't even bear to watch
And I'd tear out my eyes (but) my hands are tied
I cannot
Cuz she fights a losing battle that I can't even bear to
watch
And I'd tear out my eyes (but) my hands are tied
I cannot save her
She swore she'd never cry again
She swore she'd never cry again
She swore she'd never cry again
Cuz she fights a losing battle that I can't even bear to
watch
And I'd tear out my eyes (but) my hands are tied
I cannot
Cuz she fights a losing battle that I can't even bear to
watch
And I'd tear out my eyes (but) my hands are tied
I cannot save her
