So many questions go unanswered
So many times there are things we leave undone
What is the price the ones before us have paid
For the steps that they have laid
Oh will they breathe again?
(through our actions)
Oh will they die again?

Chorus

All I, all I ever wanted
Was a dream to believe in
Will I, ever see the moment
When my, when my dreams come true

Maybe the answers to those same questions
Where right in front of us all along
Written in riddles, timeless prayers
Hidden in rhymes in the words of timeless songs
Oh will they breathe again?
(through our actions)
Oh will they die again?

Chorus
