There was a girl who flew the world from a lonely shore Through southern snow, to Heathrow to understand the law

There was a boy who loved the noise of the underground

He left the coast and overdosed on that London sound

He said, "I don't care if you're black or blue

Me and the stars stay up for you

I don't care who's wrong or right

And I don't care for the U.K. tonight so stay, stay"

And then one day she moved away from those garden walls

She left some flowers, he smoked for hours, she understood the law

I don't care if you're black or blue

Me and the stars stay up for you

I don't care who's wrong or right

And I don't care for the U.K. tonight

I don't care if you're black or blue

Me and the stars stay up for you

I don't care who's wrong or right

And I don't care for the U.K. tonight so stay, stay, stay, stay

There was a girl who flew the world
