by Bob Dylan (arr)

1. Lord, I'm broke, I'm hungry, ragged and dirty too,
Broke and hungry, ragged and dirty too.
If I clean up, sweet momma, can I stay all night with you?

2. Lord, I went to my window, babe, I couldn't see
through my blinds,
Went to my window, babe, I couldn't see through my
blinds,
Heard my best friend a-comin' and I thought I heard
my baby cry.

3. Lord, if I can't come in here, baby, then just let me sit down in your door,
If I can't come in here, baby, then just let me sit down in
your door,
And I would leave so soon that your man won't never know.

4. How can I live here, baby, Lord, and feel at ease?
How can I live here, baby, Lord, and feel at ease?
Well, that woman I got, man, she does just what she feels.

5. Lord, you shouldn't mistreat me, baby, because I'm young and wild,
Shouldn't mistreat me, baby, because I'm young and wild.
You must always remember, baby, you was once a child.

6. 'Cause I'm leaving in the morning, if I have to ride
the blinds,
Leaving in the morning, if I have to ride the blinds.
Well, I been mistreated and I swear I don't mind dyin'
