When I see you look up at the sky
It almost makes me cry
Talkin' on a plain old payphone
I see you meet a lady

I can't help to think
You're up to no good
Just like every guy in this world
Back to when we first met
I though you were different
But I guess I was wrong
Like you were saying all along

Do you think it's fair to go out with other girls And to come home and say that you weren't It really gets on my nerves so, Get out of my house, I don't wanna see your face again, I think we're gonna break up and then...

It all makes sense now
I always knew you were up to no good
I can't believe I went out with you
When I knew I was right at the sight of you

...I can't help to think
You're up to no good
Just like every guy in this world
Back to when we first met
I though you were different
But I guess I was wrong
Like you were saying all along

All along

I knew you were up to no good
