

Dillinger Escape Plan, The "Setting Fire To Sleeping Giants"

Visit "Setting Fire To Sleeping Giants" on MotoLyrics.com

First off let me say you look so tired... rest your head and shut your eyes empty ambition blankets the sky...
I'm thinking 'bout another world tonight so drop the gown the game's over just push your face into the fight and it breaks my heart like dancing up all night ride so high we both start thinking 'bout another world tonight and it feels so wrong like nothing we've ever felt before the stranger's candy takes you where you ought to be in broken alleys in the back of every street close your eyes tonight baby you can have it ooh baby gnaw me down to the bone soon you'll find I'm never gonna take you back home well there's so much you never told me and there's not much I want to know 'cause your pretty face will do just fine you'll be the star of my every last show let's go for a long ride I'll show you places you won't ever want to leave the stranger's candy takes you where you ought to be in broken alleys in the back of every street tonight we could bring it all down we could bring it all down they think this body's a dead note dancing to the beat but they'll never see this corpse coming 'till it kills them

Visit Dillinger Escape Plan, The page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.