"was there a time when heaven held you was there a time you felt the air I'll have to ask are we still trying I'll have to ask do you still care

'cause every minute every hour every time in every way baby when will you discover that all you ever gave was pain there was a time, I never told you I thought your lies were only fair there'll come a time without denying you'll turn around and I'm not there

'cause every minute every hour
baby you're not half a lover if all you ever give is pain
