I'm sold to the the world

And I'm happy and I swirl on a cloud

My feet has never touched the ground

We are around, you all the time

But you just swallow your Prozac

And listen to your deep division

I can't listen, I just swallow my fingers a

And try to throw up

Just throw that shit out of your window

You're a man but you're into a black widow

And it's far away from man, from man, from man

If you could be yourself I'll be damned

But you will always be my friend

Just wanna give you a hand

From man, from man

If you could be yourself I'll be damned

But you will always be my friend

Just wanna give you a hand

I'm so different

But I'm shifting

Like the borderline with time I just drift

From the shore

And the heat in the night is not like before

It's cold

And don't you try to chain me no more

I think you have to take you're life more easy

Or else you'll die

And it's far away from man, from man, from man

If you could be yourself I'll be damned

But you will always be my friend

Just wanna give you a hand

From man, from man

If you could be yourself I'll be damned

But you will always be my friend

Just wanna give you a hand

You're so sad, so sad

So lonely close to mad, so sad

Just listen to the bands

That takes colours instead of blood on their chests

That takes money before a funeral rest

That don't mourn their whole lifes

That smiles, when you should smile

And it's far away from man, from man, from man

If you could be yourself I'll be damned

But you will always be my friend

Just wanna give you a hand

From man, from man

If you could be yourself I'll be damned

But you will always be my friend

Just wanna give you a hand

And it's far away from man
