Sally wakes up, she's so lonely, Sally wakes up from a deathly dream

All her friends was dead and her mum was the murderer

Sally wakes up and she screams

A knock on the door wakes her mind up, she says who's there, it's the police

They tell her that her friends are dead and that her mother is the thief

So sally can't you see, this is just another dream

Sally runs up, she so sad

The tears runs down like a stream

Sally smashes her head in the wall

She tries to get the pain to freeze

But everything is so silent

Silence is her only noise

Sally is left alone but she dosen't see

That this is just anouther dream

So sally can't you see this is just another dream
