Standing in a park wearing feathers

Asking people about the weather

I say "know you cry every night"

So would I but I'm just to dry

It's what I said

I said hey babe

I'll buy you a drink then I'll be fine

Fill your heart with the red wine

Running around in circles

Accused of disorder and murders

It's what she said

I said hey babe

Could have a lot for your love

Lot for your love a lot for your love

Well

If I knew what to say to make it go away

I say it over and over again

See the world from your eyes, then you will rise

I say it over and over again

I said hey babe I said hey babe

Walk with me babe I said hey babe

Burn marks on broken hearts

Time to run cause it's getting dark

I know you cry every night

So would I but I'm just too dry

It's what I said

I said hey babe

Could have a lot for your love

A lot for your love a lot for your love

Well

If I knew what to say to make it go away

I say it over and over again

See the world from your eyes, then you will rise

I say it over and over again

I said hey babe I said hey babe

White light and rainbow nights

I see smoke from endless skies

And tears run through your soul

Well

If I knew what to say to make it go away

I say it over and over again

See the world from your eyes, then you will rise

I say it over and over again

Well

If I knew what to say to make it go away

I say it over and over again

See the world from your eyes, then you will rise

I say it over and over again

I said hey babe I said hey babe

Walk with me babe I said hey babe

I said hey babe I said hey babe
