I don't understand your problems
'Cause you got too many of them
It's hard to relate to you, well

We've been told that the grass is always greener on the other side
The other side, oh yeah, but that doesn't mean we should stop
What we're doing on the outside, the outside, outside buy

We all know that everything changes
This always seems better than the other
Gotta keep my mind focused on right now
I can't take my eye off thinking 'bout how

Well I don't understand your reasoning
'Cause you know that it really Doesn't make any sense to me, well

We've been told that the grass is always greener on the other side
The other side, oh yeah, but that doesn't mean we
should stop
What we're doing on the outside, the outside, outside

We all know that everything changes
This always seems better than the other
Gotta keep my mind focused on right now
I can't take my eye off thinking 'bout how

You know I'd never say these things to you
If they didn't mean something to me
You know I'd never try to get in your head
Try to make you believe what I want you to see, yeah
They told me that everything changes, well yeah
Just remember that everything changes

I'm just a casual observer
I'm always just taking it in
I watch the world go by, well

We've been told that the grass is always greener on the other side
The other side, oh yeah, but that doesn't mean we
should stop
What we're doing on the outside, the outside, outside

We all know that everything changes
This always seems better than the other
Gotta keep my mind focused on right now
I can't take my eye off thinking 'bout how

We all know that everything changes
This always seems better than the other
Gotta keep my mind focused on right now
I can't take my eye off thinking 'bout how
