close the window
the sun's too bright a summer's shade, hear from hell burn the candle
when it's gone, don't cry
wax and wick, flesh and bone
they pass in time
i can hope and i can wish that tree will stay and give me shade and i can hope and i can wish
my love said forever to me but now forever's gone but the tree still gives me shade leave the heat pray the shade will stay each summer's day, each life's love
hold each thought they can surely fade
or melt away
on a july day
