Don't need no cash, we can make a dash, hit the street
It's always been, it's always been you and me
Baby it's cool, you suck at school anyway
So pack it up, let's run away, run away

I know those bruises aint from falling down
(Tell the truth)
They seem to show when your drunk dad's around (I'm here to save you from falling down)
We can go whenever you let go
Whenever you let go (just let go)

Do you remember
We said we'd run
Away together
Holding on to one another
I'll steal the car
Steal the credit cards
We'll run forever
Holding on to one another

This is the day, and tonight I'll be there
You know the time, don't be scared
Get all your CD's, get all your posters
Get what you need from their wallets and their purses

I know those bruises aint from falling down (Tell the truth)
They seem to show when your drunk dad's around (I'm here to save you from falling down)
We can go whenever you let go
Whenever you let go (Just let go)

Do you remember
We said we'd run
Away together
Holding on to one another
I'll steal the car
Steal the credit cards
We'll run forever
Holding on to one another

And when we're all alone
With no one there to bother
I'll treat you like a queen
Forget about your father
There's no means that justify
You living your whole life in pain

I know them bruises ain't from fallin' down
They seem to show when your drunk dad's around
We can go whenever you let go
Whenever you let go

Do you remember
We said we'd run
Away together
Holding on to one another
I'll steal the car
Steal the credit cards
We'll run forever
Holding on to one another

Do you remember?
(I'm here to save you from falling down)
