I remember back to a couple of years ago,
oh how close it seems, and I wonder what all this is for.
Progression is our reoccurring theme.

I'll be there for you, even though I'm so far away.
Please don't shed those tears. Hold them back for better years.
You know I'll always be around; you were always there
for me.
I could have never seen this coming but it won't go away.

And it seems my life is changing but there are no words to convey.
I look deep into your eyes. I know you want this just as much as I do.
You've got nothing to hide; just sit back and let this work out for me.
You've seen what happens when you try too hard. Just sit back, and remember.
