

Eighties Combat

"You'll Never Change"

Visit "You'll Never Change" on MotoLyrics.com

Don't be afraid to feel, but be afraid of what I'll say.
'Cause this time you've crossed the line and you can never get it back.
I'm sick of explaining where this went down, how this happened, when and why.
Can you explain the bond other than our family ties?

Where's the guy who couldn't be shut down?
He's been locked up for way too long, and he's gone.
Try to step up, get back in line.
Why don't you make it count this time? You'll never change.
Set back the clock; you're better off this way.

I think that I'll take it back now..I said you're smarter than me.
But whoever can't see through that needs to cross their T's and fess up.
The tables are set for one or two, but you've got way too many chairs.
And by the way I don't care, I've changed too you know.

Visit Eighties Combat page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.