I dreamed you, I saw your face
Cut my lifeline, went drifting through space
I saw an angel, I saw my fate
I can only thank God it was not too late

Over mountains I floated away
Across an ocean I dreamed your name
I followed an angel down through the gates
I can only thank God it was not too late

Sing a little song of loneliness O sing one to make me smile
We're not around for ever more but we're here for a little while

Now I'm walking this street on my own
But you're with me everywhere that I go
I found an angel, I found my place
I can only thank God it was not too late
