Sailing the bitter sea of pain,
It surrounds you like a fog
You need to banish fear away
And step into the sun
Another day has passed behind you
Another day will see the dawning light

Love will find a way to settle deep inside your heart

I see your spirit fade to dust
By the line drawn in the sand
But you can find the power to trust,
Just let me hold your hand
And let that day pass behind you
And in this way you'll feel the dawning light

Love will find a way to settle deep inside your heart
In this you must believe
