I surrender to the sea
Giant waves around me
I am lost, I am alone
I find comfort in this storm

Oh cruel fate that I breathe on this strange land
My home it is far from me, my old life's behind

Yet you carried me so carefully, laid me down easily
Your gentle words comfort me, healing me, healing me
And you say survive

Now the land is near
I see it on the Horizon
Standing proud upon the hill
The castle of Tintagel

The king will greet me on the shore
His servants gathered around him
The will crown my golden hair
At the castle of Tintagel
