"Melt Sugar"

this is the sweetest moment this is what we both wanted we are the same but we're so different i untie your shoelaces we touch each other's faces we start to sweat and the sky turns red

tell me that you know life's not fair
if we're gonna make it then we're halfway there
tell me that you know that i really care, i swear let's melt the sugar

under the meteor shower on the hottest night in july our sticky alter...is nothing but a towel spread out....as we both lie let's melt the sugar

it's melting on our faces it's running down our places that we both hide in the dark tonight this is the way we do things spontaneous exciting i wish the world was always this inviting (yes i want you, yes i need you, sweat pours down my chest)
