Wrapped up in her head, she's coming clean again
And her new suitcase, is her only way, out
Yeah a love like this, shouldn't be so complicated
I'm spinning out, I'm jaded
Remember how, you said you wanted out
There's nothing new to talk about Cause everything's changing now
If you're oh so sick of him why'd you stay with him Everyone's changing now, and now you're oh so sick of yourself

You're not alright, would you just stop faking it
It takes time to realize, you're doing fine
If you just get over this
It takes time to realize your life's just what you make of
it

Oh I 'aint speaking your name
Keep my name out of your mouth, and I'll do the same
Hey baby hey feel the blood rush to your head
You wont be sleeping in my bed

You're not alright, would you just stop faking it
It takes time to realize, you're doing fine
If you just get over this
It takes time to realize your life's just what you make of
it

Do you think you've had enough?
Does he make you wanna fall in love
Looks like you're afraid to be alone
You're better on your own
Still don't know how I feel about you now
Oh you're shaking in your bones
Losing control take it slow

You're not alright, would you just stop faking it
It takes time to realize, you're doing fine
If you just get over this
It takes time to realize your life's just what you make of
it

You're not alright, would you just stop faking it
It takes time to realize, you're doing fine
If you just get over this
It takes time to realize your life's just what you make of
it
