Yeah, I just thought it was appropriate to Just to give a shout out, show my appreciation to the fathers
You know I hear a lot of rappers saying
Or brag about not having kids
But guess what, I do!
So I'd like to sing this record out
To all the daddies, you know the real daddies
Taking care of shit

This one's for the skateboarders, emcees, b boys, like me
Street artists and magazines, dj's with babies Working hard, you never sleep, never get to spend they time at home
Send that money but you never see him
Hard ways working, daddy's gone
To the brick legging, dirt digging,
Burglar flipping in the fucking kitchen
Just to get that friday
So you could bring back what was missing
Every day, it'll be my kids day,
End of the moth is day
And if you don't get back to work on time
They tax you for that month's wage
For the d boys holding weight
And for the daddies who are locked away
Doing time cause you was doing grind
But you was on the trying to put down a plate
Maybe to get some baby jays, in the that's how we raise
If you could be a feed in a french drive
When that train has passed away, I've got to say

Yeah, to all my closest friends
And all the father figures in my life
You know I really, I just wanna say thank you, yo, for real

Happy father's day, no matter how you getting paid
You hustle hard, you show the way

Happy father's day

Tell my mama not to worry about me
Cause I ain't never had a second to forgive my dad
I can't help her to believe in myself
Is not really good choice
But no matter I be in the building
When I came to the world I knew a dad
But I never would imagine I will be young dad
And I grew up like weed a over night, through the crack in the concrete
Look at me, young dad
Tell me how to walk away from a child
And I'll tell you how to walk away from a million doll
dad
If you can walk away from a million bucks then you never give a fuck
You dumb luck dad
To look up and see your man above you
To tell you that you ain't invisible, that's a motherfucking dad
So why did he push you, and teach you how to fight
If you didn't fight, fucking right, it's a good dad
Gotta take a second now show love to the trailer park apartment... Dads
Or man who ain't got a lot but in a minute
He would drop it all, do anything he could do
Jesus, when I go to mama who never had a real dad Don't take it out in the
You may be even the man when he's only tryna become
A real daddy

Cause it ain't easy
But it's a blessing man
Makes you work hard
To all the hard workers out there
I just wanna say

Happy father's day, no matter how you getting paid
Happy father's day.
