let me in

and let me go

tell me that i need to know swallow the key swallow the key you feel compelled but it's far too late to try and tell me now

so i'll try to suck it out open mouth feels warm secrets swollen so sore we all know and we can't ask why you turned into an ugly butterfly that shape of you

closes in and forms a shade of grey hanging over hanging me sorry you're gone

the voices they left me thinking the words that i've forgotten now try to come but can't come out
