

Divorce, The "Catch You Dissapointed"

Visit "Catch You Dissapointed" on MotoLyrics.com

Your eyes are small
You'll never make everyone love your hometown
A curtain called
Make sure not to drop your head down
Because they'll want to see your eyes
And they'll want to see surprise in them

Someday
I will draw the line
And try to catch you disappointed
Yeah, yeah
Same guy
Spitting different rhymes
Someday I'll catch you disappointed
Disappointed

I never tried so hard
To get every single word out
That my tongue carved little scars
In the roof of my mouth
And I thought I tasted blood
But you convinced me otherwise

Someday
I will draw the line
And try to catch you disappointed
Yeah, yeah
Same guy
Spitting different rhymes
Someday I'll catch you disappointed
Disappointed

All we want
Is what the ads have been promising us
To be gold
And shine enough
That we don't have to live by the rules
We'll make our own up

Someday
I will draw the line

And try to catch you disappointed
Yeah, yeah
Same guy
Spitting different rhymes
Someday I'll catch you disappointed
Disappointed
Disappointed

When it's bad
You blame it on the kitchen
If it's good
It's all about the chef
I beg you, stop
Just long enough to listen
I swear to God
I know what's best

Someday
I will draw the line
And try to catch you disappointed
Yeah, yeah
Same guy
Spitting different rhymes
Someday I'll catch you disappointed
Disappointed
Disappointed
Disappointed

Visit Divorce, The page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.