I thought you couldn't break me,
It's always been my call.
I didn't see you leave,
Never felt so lonely.

Tables are turning,
You left me broken and you walked away,
Now I know just how it feels to be lonely.
Tables are turning,
You left me broken and you walked away,
Now I know just how it feels to be lonely.

I thought that I could break you,
To have you in my hand,
But I was never close,
Never had a chance.

Tables are turning,
You left me broken and you walked away,
Now I know just how it feels to be lonely.
Tables are turning,
You left me broken and you walked away,
Now I know just how it feels to be lonely.

To be lonely!

Tables are turning,
You left me broken and you walked away,
Now I know just how it feels to be lonely.
Tables are turning,
You left me broken and you walked away,
Now I know just how it feels to be lonely.
