I was in the moment, oh, a terminal endeavor
Someone I should have run from
I turn back, oh, someone untrue
Someone I should have run to

Who stole my sigh and took my hands
And brought me home
You're choosing sides that blew my mind
And everywhere you go, you got control
How don't you know, evaporator?

Somebody got lucky, terminal invader
The diamond I shine my heart on
I tremble, oh, the diamond is a viper
The diamond done stole my home

And burned my hide and took my hands
You brought me home
You're choosing sides that blew my mind
And everywhere you go, you got control
How don't you know, evaporator?

And my world is breaking down
You took my hands, you brought me home
You've chosen sides that blow my mind
And everywhere you go, you got control
Well, don't you know?

I, I do my time, survive your lies
I tremble and sigh but I'm doing fine
I know not why you stole my sky
I shiver and I cry but I'm doing fine

So turn back time
Until the moon no longer lies
