Who's to blame when you're feeling blue?god's finger's got an eye on you
Is it love or another decision
Someone givin' unacceptable reasons
Never late for a change of heart
Think twice and take a brand new start
Why don't we smile and let the good things come out
Angels know what we're talking about...

Angels fly...
But never high enough for you to see
The guiding light...
That used to bring you back, bring you back to me

Feel like a king but you're wearin' no crown
Sad feelings only take you down
You'd like to be what you never achieved
You'd like to see what you somehow believed
When you're travelling through the twilight-zone
Just remember that you're not alone
Just breathe and let the good things come out
Angels know what we're talking about...

Angels fly...
But never high enough for you to see
The guiding light...
That used to bring you back, bring you back to me

So when your world seems to collide,
Ban the evil deep inside
Let your conscience play this game and you will see...

Angels, angels...

Angels fly...
But never high enough for you to see
The guiding light...
That used to bring you back, bring you back to me

Angels fly...
But never high enough for you to see

The guiding light...
That used to bring you back, bring you back to me

Angels fly...
