(D. Dickers)

Hey there, could you spare me some time
I'd like to tell a tale of simple pleasures Some choose to be partners in crime until they find they cannot live up to the pressure Just like an ordinary man I like to pay a small price for heaven the simple things in live are keeping me alive when I'm walking through the gardens of temptation
Away from the darkest shadows
Away from the brightest sun
I'll be forever tryin'
to find some peace of mind
like a man out of time Nothing's gonna drive me away
I'm feelin' like a knight who's on a mission People don't believe what I say they're just afraid of a man with no ambition I saw the writing on the wall it told me that my sun will go on shining cos I just don't rely on mountains to get high the key to my success is only common sense I guess
Away from the darkest shadows
Away from the brightest sun
I'll be forever tryin'
like a man out of time
And if you wanna walk with me a little bit of soul is all you need to hear a different beat and dance into the light of a world that's open wide Away from all the tears, away from all the fears (3X)
Away from all those silly games people play
Away from all the tears, away from all the fears
Away from all those silly games people play
I walk the winding road and let the dream unfold the day
