Wyth sorowful syghes and woundes smart my hart ys persed sodaynly to morne off ryght yt ys my part to wepe to wayle full greuously the bytter teres dothe me constrayne [5] all tho that I wold not yt eschew to wyte off them that dothe dysdayne faythfull louers that be so trew

The one of us from the other they do absent wych unto us ys a dedly wond [10] seyng we loue in thys yntent yn gods laws for to be bownd wyth syghes depe my harte ys prest duryng off great paynes among to see her dayly whom I loue best [15] yn great and untollerable sorows strong ther doth not lyue no louyng hurt but wyll lament ower greuous woo and pray to god to ease owre smart and shortly together that we may goo.
