Cross through the night
I looked down and lost my way by light
Brought to my knees
Though the dark surrounds, it pulls me down,
I do not sink beneath.

Still here, staggering on,
Through the impossible, we remain,
I can breathe, one more day.
Still here, still fighting on,
All we have is today, find my way
To the beauty of one more day,
Still here.

Hope fades away,
When tomorrow holds no promises today
Then today I am set free
For amidst the tears, among the fear
I find the joy to be

Still here, staggering on,
Through the impossible, we remain,
I can breathe, one more day.
Still here, still fighting on,
All we have is today, find my way
To the beauty of one more day,
Still here.

Still here, staggering on,
Through the impossible, we remain,
I can breathe, one more day.
Still here, still fighting on,
All we have is today, find my way
To the beauty of one more day,
Still here.
