I've been round this town for so long, she's been dancing since the first day

I've been all around but I love coming back to see Lucy

She swings me over to pull me out,

Twirls around and I fall about, in giggles and laughter, oh I'm plastered, can't damn help it I'm sorry love

What's to falling feeling feet

Great for bouncing round these streets

They're lonely like you, are for me, to ask for a dance or two

A heart of gold, and a face so pale, with a second hand dress and lips of a temptress

Bar stool banshee, howled out at me,

The kings and queens at the clubs evolved from pubs

And two much broken heart love

Singing up the blues in locked boxed bedroom, a wop bop baloo bop ta wop bamboo

Are you going to take the chance

Why do you care no one plays fair

And neither do the lords of the dance

From here to Salvador, the ladies dance, to fill us reckless sons, with passions of the heart

Well it's a bang bang Anglo Saxons at the disco

A tish you all fall down

Hound dogs round on the prowl

For the next young girl, who told her daddy,

"I'm going round Gemma's to learn and study, I'm young and so free and I'm kinda sexy, and when I'm on the floor all the boys they feel me, and old dear diary's never been a friend of mine."

From here to Salvador, the ladies dance, to fill us
reckless sons, with passions of the heart
