Starring up at the stars tonight counting the lines go by and we've only got another hour wondering thinking of you wish i could see you now as i try i try i try to fall asleep but i can't stop thinking of how much i love having someone like you always understand when i am gone and i'm not there for you i can't wait to see you once again i can't begin to tell you how i feel and every mile's a ways from you darkness outside my window 42 miles to go and i see the lights of another city can't stop thinking about you the smile upon your face but i got to got to got to get some sleep

i can't wait to see you once again
..and i can't get you off my mind
