talked about mostly nothing spent her time mostly fussing about her makeup and her hair Should i even care while i wait half an hour as she stops and talks to her old boyfriend alone I should've stayed home take your time when you find the one make sure your not the only one dont get lost in her eyes and dont be so supised when you find out shes not everything perfect girls are just a dream that will never come true for a guys like me and you didnt we always try something didnt we always try nothing didnt we always say forever now i know it seems like nothing seems to just like before Im staying home again until my heart breaks in two always before you would you would make it right again but now everything has changed stood in line for an hour or two got her stuff and sat down just in time to watch the show now where did she go in the back hiding out Him and her were making out what else can i say i watched the movie anyway
