across the world as far as i could be i think of you and what you want to take from me but now i'm not waiting on sunrise to come again and though my eyes are opening its only now and then but i'll never know when time is not the only one to wait it's just enough to dream of yesterday and now it's slipping away CHORUS
and i'm not believing all that i've been needing to take me to another day the way to a second life where i was beckoned back again someday
i'll never, i'll never know when...
