At the start the end's
So easy to forget
When the closing comes
It's far too quick and the start sticks

Our conscience is killing us
For what we haven't said
Our nonsense is thrilling
Cause we're all underfed
The morning without
Us when our high hopes
Come back without
A solution

Here we are again
So eager to pretend
Our lonesome hearts
Dare us to tear them apart

Our conscience is killing us
For what we haven't said
Our nonsense is thrilling
Cause we're all underfed
The morning without
Us when our high hopes
Come back without
A solution

Let's break the glass
That holds the wine
Look past utensil to feast on swine
Salivate
At opportunity
And apprehend the useless

Burn the candle at
Both ends to seek potential
Overlooked by pessimism
Locked away by realism
Spend too much time waiting for the glass to fill
Priceless is the reaction of letting glass spill

Reaching the brim of every pointless goal
Without looking further or even looking into

Let's break the glass
That holds the wine
Look past utensil to feast on swine
Salivate
At opportunity

It's so hard to change them when
They can't stop
Holding like they always do

Let's break the glass
That holds the wine
Salivate
At opportunity
