"Kingdom Of Life"

Once my kingdom stood tall
And in my ignorance I thought I had it all
But soon that kingdom did fall
For it was built upon lies now my sorry heart
Humbly cries

Thank You for breaking down these walls of mine
Thank You for taking out my army of lies
Thank You for breaking down my heart of strife
Thank You for giving me the kingdom of life

I'm stretched out at Your throne
I deny myself
For Your glory not my own
My new kingdom is in You
You're fit for a king
So take my crowns
And let me sing
I've entered into Your kingdom
My hands lift high
I declare You my King
Your splendor fills the air
Your majesty makes me sing
