I want you in my arms tonight You know you whet my appetite It might be wrong for us to care And maybe something's in the air But if the world is unaware It's alright, please say it's alright You'll be mine tonight, it's going to be alright

I won't care if we fall in love I'll be happy with the memory of The thought of just one night of bliss We can't give up a chance like this So just go on and whisper it's lt's alright...

MotoLyrics

I want you in my arms tonight You know you set my heart alight It can't be like this everyday And soon you'll be so far away So now I want to hear you say

It's alright...

Don't want to make a main feature with you Ah but you know there's a time and a place You can't resist it when you're feeling it too I can tell by the smile on your face We both know that it will be OK So don't you let this moment slip away Don't have a problem when it's all in the mind Yes but we can make it very very real this time
