I feel your eyes stare into mine

Burning through just who I am

I wish I could make things right again

I know this road takes me from you

But I can't seem to slow this down

I see myself but you're all around

I cannot run from you

You've caught my every move

I just want you to know

I'm burning down this wall

Can I start new?

It feels like now I'm drowning out

Into the rain and all the noise

Even the streets can hear your voice

I'm running out, can't catch my breath

My lungs are thin and caving in

I want this, I need you now

I cannot run from you

You've caught my every move

I just want you to know

I'm burning down this wall

Can I start new?

I cannot run from you

You've caught my every move

I just want you to know

I cannot run from you

You've caught my every move

I just want you to know

I'm burning down this wall

Can I start new? Can I start new?

I'm running to you now
