I was too busy playing princess
While you were off there somewhere else
I was too worried about someone else
And her name could almost rhyme with mine

I never meant for you to feel this way
I never meant for you to feel this way
Can't tell truth from fiction
Can't tell truth from fiction

I think pretty one listen to me
Truth is all that's asked for
And love is steering you to the inevitable
Would you can't stop trying or you may start crying
Don't you know me?

I can't tell truth from fiction
I can't tell truth from fiction

I was too busy playing princess
While you were off there somewhere else
I was too worried, I was too worried about someone else
I didn't know the truth was mine

I never meant for you to feel this way
I never meant for you to feel this way
Can't tell truth from fiction
Can't tell truth from fiction

I never meant for you to feel
I never meant for you to feel this way
Can't tell truth from fiction
