(your words they penetrate my every pour the very fiber of my being is breaking with the strain) as the words misplaced.
Unthoughtful, careless and I know what Ive said hurt but even for me to say this you must know, you must realize how much of my guard Ive let go, let down the hard part of me which is all I want others to see but this you cant see, you look inside of me and yet I cant hind from your eyes which makes me bleed and all I can do is cry, these lies fall away stripped aside I let them die knowing it will let me find a way to new life (with this love)
I cant hide any longer from you I cant hide my feelings no armor is left as I pull from the depth of my heart all that I have and let it fall, I let it fall with all of me to you.
(This bleeding heart so soft, I wont tear it apart)
(With all of me, to you, with all of me, to you)
