this day was meant to be a day that i would treasure
a way to make us closer could it be he doesnt see that we dont fit together? could it be that this will be the way it feels forever?

this day was planned for years i prayed at every altar this day confirmed my fears there's nothing left to wait for

battered bride dry your eyes things will change i promise red on white just you wait you might learn to like it this day was full of pain i tried hard not to feel it the magazines explained something completely different if i could have my way id run home to my parents im scared but have to stay i made a firm commitment

pay your dues bruised and numb love means compromises black and blue love can come in all shapes and sizes

dry your eyes
run and hide all youd like only death will part us....

dry your eyes....
