Put me together
Just to tear me apart again stitches, stitches stitches soon enough im gonna need stitches with what you've done to me torn me open so many times I cant believe I let you do half the things I let you violate my mind
rape my spirit all I am is a broken shell of what I once was you can say all the things I wanna hear make me believe everything they say is wrong but deep down
I knew you werent the one
The one I dreamt about all my life I never wanted to be a part of what you had in mind turn me on when you needed something to fuck with
just fed me all your fucking half truths lies is what they were fuck with my head again shred my dignity bleed my self conscious leave me here
im going to die anyways whats the use of you your innocent ways fucked me and my love for life
