Watchin' the wheel as it
Turned down the hill, like you
Turned me down into my Self-destiny, every kiss means
Pain, pain and secrets to me
Is it permanance that love
Shattered pride?
San diego was a mistake
The sun burns into my face
At six o'clock I awake
Step into this endless race
A man stands there lovely on
The fiels and a rabbit trapped
In the lime light like I walked
Straight into your zombie machine
The rain refreshed the air, like
My old tears reborn on my cheek
Is it permanance that love
Shattered pride?
My hands could touch the sky
A fence, a wall I couldn't walk
Through the door to your Killing touch, it could be all
Catch in green grass + isolation
San diego nights - remember
