"Alright, before we go on with this shit, there are some things that I would like to point out:

Number one: If anything goes wrong, everyone is on their own.

Number two: Those who stay behind, are left behind.

Number three: Shoot to kill if that depends in your own safety.

Number four: Once you're caught, you have nothing to do with anything.

Bear in your mind: nothing with anything.

Agree with that? Let's go!"

"We have taken the building!"

"Everydody down!"

"Everybody get on the fucking ground!"

"One man down!"

One man bleeding
Blood's still running through his veins
Without a help, without a choice,
Life will slowly fade away
Wants to go on with his life
He is caught in his own cage
They are quickly surrounding us
Transforming our fear into rage

"Freeze! VLG PD!"

Lost bullets flying all around
Trying to get those bodies down
Their own lust will make them fall
We grab our guns, we're gonna kill'em all

Kill, kill, kill, kill, kill, kill, kill, kill!
Kill, kill, kill, kill, kill, kill, kill, kill!
Kill!

Now we've done it

The three badges on the ground
A hostage killed
Embraced by his screaming sound
Another victim
Healing our invisible wound

And deep in me
I feel this rage
Nothing to ask for
Nothing to engage
An hostage die
An empty death
Blood spilt to show us the path
The circle is getting tight
And now is the real fight!
Fight!

We fight again
To kill or die
Somewhere within
Beneath the sky
Now they are stronger
And make us crawl
I guess this is
The rise of our fall

"Once a wise man said: be yourself and have fear.
But now I say: have fear to be yourself.
Despite all this, we've tried.
Was it worth it?"
