(Watt Watkins)

The Gods were angry with me for loving you
The Gods were angry with me because they knew
I stood at heaven's portals and that was too high
For any mortals such as I.

And so they took down the sun, the skies were gray
And then the howling winds took you away
And there was nothing I could do or I could see
It was because the Gods were angry with me.

--- Instrumental ---

I stood at heaven's portals and that was too high
For any mortals such as I.

--- Instrumental ---

And there was nothing I could do or I could see
It was because the Gods were angry with me...
