

Jim Ed Brown & The Browns

"Who's Gonna Buy You Ribbons"

Visit "Who's Gonna Buy You Ribbons" on MotoLyrics.com

(Paul Clayton)

Ain't no use to sit and cry now darling
Wonder who's gonna buy you ribbons when I'm gone?

It's hard to keep from thinking bout last summer
We used to be together everywhere
Remember how we walked along the sidewalk
We'd stop, I'd buy a ribbon for your hair.

Ain't no use to sit and sigh now darling
And there ain't no use to sit and cryin' now
I can't help but wonder just a little
Wonder who's gonna buy you ribbons when I'm gone?

So now I walk alone along the sidewalk
But somehow things are not the same there
I see the places that we saw together
The shop that sold the ribbons for your hair.

Ain't no use to sit and sigh now darling
And there ain't no use to sit and cryin' now
I can't help but wonder just a little
Wonder who's gonna buy you ribbons when I'm gone?

Wonder who's gonna buy you ribbons when I'm gone?...

Visit Jim Ed Brown & The Browns page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.