"Hard to Love"

ha ha ha tell me why when you look me in the eye why do I feel like I want to die i've been at work all day in the pouring rain just to give you something you'll forget and i would never hate you, but you're hard to love and i would never leave you, but you're hard to love and i don't know why after all this time every single song i sing is about you and you walk away, you just walk away but i still make your bed and you still leave me for dead
