"How It Ended"

those days when i would sit around with you oh there's nothing like it and even when my heart was black and blue
oh there's nothing like it and everything before and after you oh doesn't matter

so do you remember the old times those were the only times, the only times

i don't know how it ended i don't know where you ran to i'll always be right here
i don't know how it ended
i don't know where you ran to

you never have to say that you were wrong i know i'd do it all again even if it was wrong and i could write a thousand more songs about you before this one, so that the next one's for you

so do you remember the old times

i'll always be right here
i don't know where you ran to

and how will this sound and when will my life begin again, again, again, again

so do you remember the old times

i'll always be right here
